Green roofs are an innovative and beautiful approach to restoring our urban environment. They retain rain water and slow runoff, decreasing contamination of streams, lakes and the Puget Sound. Green roof applications may be lightweight (“extensive”) with drought-tolerant plants or “intensive” roof-top gardens with deeper soils. All green roofs below are either accessible to the public or viewable from street level.